

Description of Data Collection and Analysis

Between March 30th and September 27th, 2022, members of the MedBiquitous team hosted eight roundtable discussions to learn more about competency-based education (CBE) and Curriculum Management (CM) with 110 MedBiquitous community members. Each roundtable was hosted virtually and lasted approximately one hour. The host provided participants with open ended questions. All roundtables were recorded using Zoom technology.

Following the completion of the roundtables, a member of the MedBiquitous team compiled key responses from the transcripts and organized them by topic and participants; Curriculum Management for Health Professions Education, Competency Based Education, and Curriculum Management for Nursing. The transcripts were then provided to Dr. Sarah McGhee, an AAMC staff member in the Academic Affairs cluster, to analyze.

Dr. McGhee removed all identifying information from the transcripts and combined responses under the exact questions asked or a question similar in theme. When possible, a short summary of the responses to each question is provided along with a list of the responses. Some questions do not contain a summary due to the content of the questions or the number of responses provided. Some of the responses are organized by subject.
